

BUILDING
MOVEMENT

ACHIEVING TRANSFORMATION

11TH
AESOP SUSTAINABLE FOOD
PLANNING
CONFERENCE

19-22.06.2024
BRUSSELS
& GHENT

Friday 21.06

WELCOME AND INTRODUCTION

“Why are we in Ghent?
A word on the expo
‘Gentse Gronden’”

Hans Vandermaelen

Track
A Spatial Planning,
Soil and Land

Track
B Agroecology and Movement Building

Track
C Forms of Urban Agriculture

Track
D Mapping, Strategizing and Design

Track
E Perspectives on Food Justice

Track
F
Food Governance and Experimentation

FRI
21/6
10:30
-
12:00
3.A
Public Farmland and Public Policy

3.B
Strategies of Movement
Building

3.C
Urban Agriculture
Frameworks

3.D
Urban Food Environments

3.E
Food Procurement, Redistribution and Welfare

3.F
Role of Local Governments

LUNCH

at entrance of STAM
with possibility of free visit to expo (no food inside!)

FRI
21/6
13:30
-
15:00
4.A
Peri-urban Dynamics

4.B
Moving with the Farmers

4.C
From Informal to Formal Urban Agriculture

4.D
Training and Policy
Learning

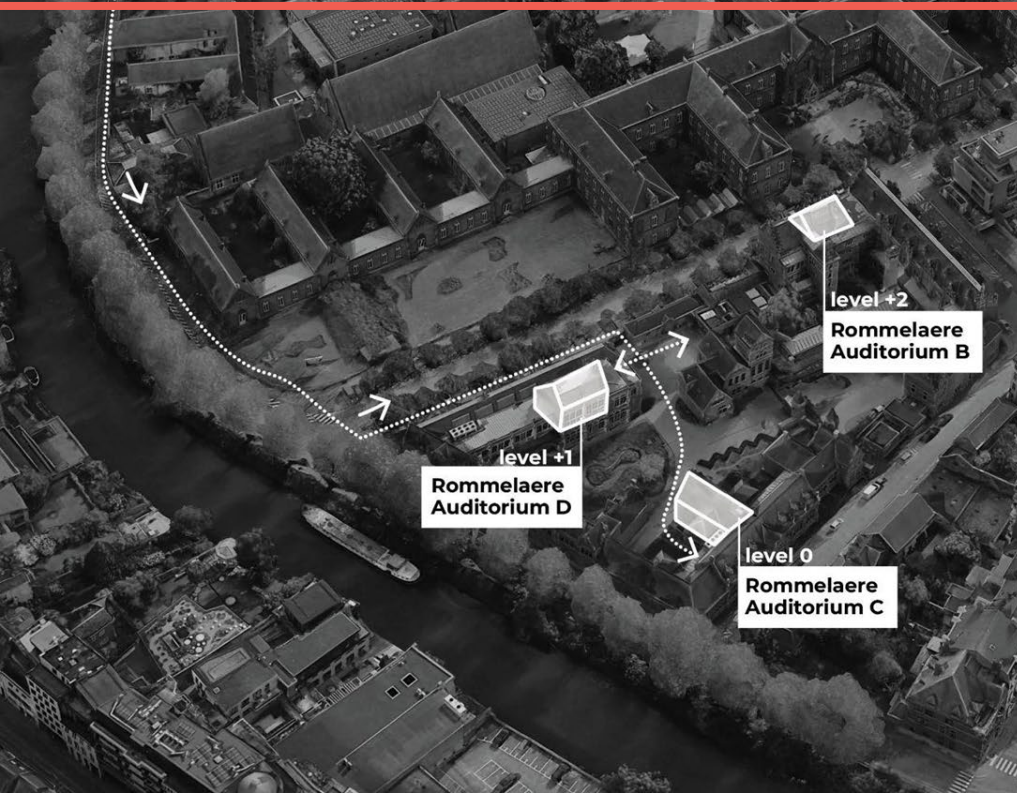

4.E
Landed Community
Kitchens

4.F
Experimenting for Food
Equity

15:15 KEYNOTE
Valentine Cadieux
in Abdijrefter

- Sessions in STAM:
Follow the signs and follow the guide!
- Session 3.A & 4.A in Abdijrefter
- Session 3.B & 4.B in Baudelo
- Session 3.C & 4.C in Placidus:
— Guided visit to expo: entrance hall meeting point

- Sessions in Rommelaere:
Go outside and follow your guide until the campus or check the route descriptions on Whatsapp!
- Session 3.D & 4.D in Auditorium B (Jozef Kluyskensstraat 29. Ghent)
- Session 3.E & 4.E in Auditorium C (Jozef Kluyskensstraat 31. Ghent)
- Session 3.F & 4.F in Auditorium D (Jozef Kluyskensstraat 31. Ghent)

KEYNOTE

"How is sustainable food planning contributing to agroecological repair?"

Valentine Cadieux

CO-CREATIVE SESSION

"Building an agenda for Sustainable Food Planning"

based on the 8 statements

— Goal of the co-creative session:
Start building a research agenda and outlook for the next 10 years of sustainable food planning.

What themes, problems or other issues emerged at your table that we need to know more about?

What needs more discussion, more research?

What do we still not understand well enough?

And how does this lead to new lines of work for the next 10 years of sustainable food planning?

— Plenary conclusion: pitch your table insights in less than 2 minutes!

STATEMENT 1

What can food planning do to support a transition to an affordable and sustainable food system? How can we overcome the tension between affordability and sustainability that now divides urban food movements?

Silvio Caputo

ABDIJREFTER

STATEMENT 2

To make sustainable food planning (even) more transformative, we must address local communities' issues and change our research approach. How do we break out of disciplinary and sectorial silos?

Coline Perrin

ABDIJREFTER

STATEMENT 3

Place-based sustainable food planning has the potential to bring together public policies inspired by global commitments and emergent models pioneered by grassroots movements. Which changes in narratives and relations of power can begin to realize that transformative potential?

Marian Simón

ABDIJREFTER

STATEMENT 4

What kind of infrastructure helps sustainable food planning to be genuinely transformative, either in sustaining or in transforming?

Valentine Cadieux

ABDIJREFTER

STATEMENT 5

To remain transformative, sustainable food planning research must enable all communities – from bottom to top – to jointly agree on truly desirable food futures. How do we make more space for normative discussions in food planning?

Katrin Bohn

PLACIDUS

STATEMENT 6

Food sustainability and food justice are not the same thing. How can sustainable food planning participate in the just food transition? How can we be actively involved in building just food systems?

Tomaso Ferrando

BAUDELO

STATEMENT 7

What if “food” was not the one we grow commercially and buy in shops, but the one we forage in the urban commons?

Chiara Tornaghi

CABINE

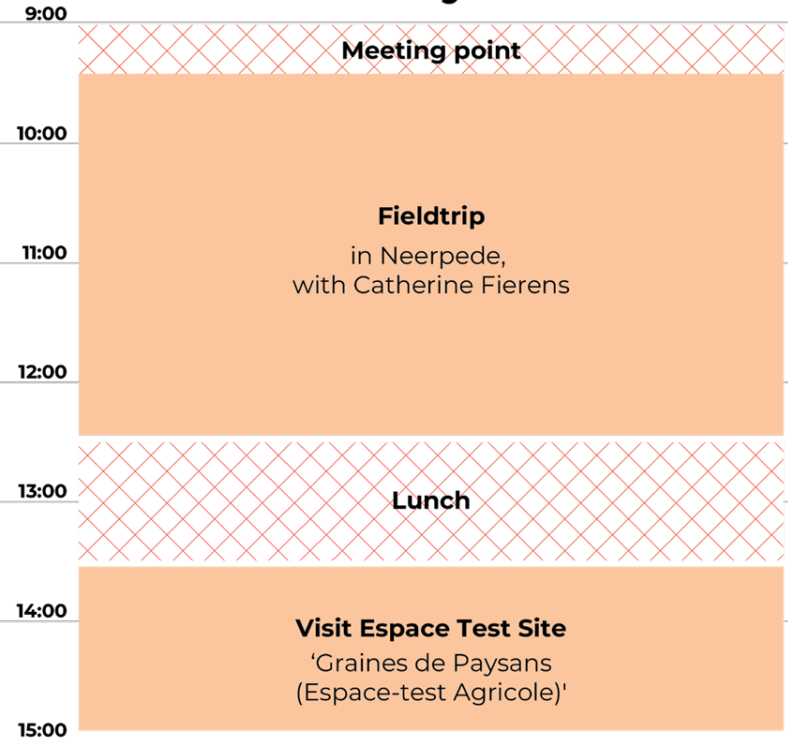

STATEMENT 8

In times of climate emergency, links and synergies between urban food and climate justice agendas should be better valorised. How can climate justice targets reinforce the role of food in the urban agenda and viceversa?

Alessandra Manganelli

ARMENKAMER

Saturday 22.06

— 9:15 Meeting point at metro station 'Eddy Merckx'

Metro line 5 to Erasmus - this line passes through the city center and Brussel-Central Station.

We meet at exit 'Josse Leemanslaan' of the metro station.

Luggage can be stored in lockers in Brussel-Central Station.

— 9:30 Start guided tour

Walk of 6,5 km with Catherine Fierens, Brussels Environment

— 12:30 Lunch at Kattekasteel

Catering by Entre Nous

— 13:30 — Visit Espace Test Site

— 15:00 — Foreseen end of the visit

From the Espace Test Site, it is a 15 minutes walk to the metro station Eddy Merckx.

— Join the YAP community

Successful workshop on Wednesday!

Contact Alessandra Manganelli or Roxana Triboi if you want to be in touch for future events.

Future events?

BUILDING
MOVEMENT

ACHIEVING
TRANSFORMATION

11TH
AESOP SUSTAINABLE FOOD
PLANNING
CONFERENCE

19-22.06.2024
BRUSSELS
& GHENT

